Peace More Important than a Tax Cut, Ike Tells Business

Jury Frees Clerk in Tax Fraud

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Criminal Court jury acquitted Mrs. Betty Liotta, 31, former Harrison Twp. tax clerk, today of accessory charges growing out of a $67,000 shortage in township tax funds.

The Tarentum woman, mother of twins, burst into tears as Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff read the sealed verdict returned at 10:25 a. m. The jury received the case at 3:25 p. m. Monday.

"Thank God, there's still justice," Mrs. Liotta cried as she turned to thank the jury of eight men and four women.

During the six-day trial, Asst. Dist. Atty. Peter F. Flaherty contended Mrs. Liotta helped former tax collector Stephen C. Pastrick embezzle tax funds in the period 1951-54.

Defense attorney Robert Van der Voort claimed the evidence "is all circumstantial."

Bought Fur Coat

Mrs. Liotta admitted under cross-examination that from 1952 to 1954 she and her husband had deposits totaling about $3,500 in two Natrona banks and in a Tarentum bank. She also admited buying a $1,140 fur coat and $3,000 automobile.

She denied repeatedly banking "any of the taxpayers' money" in the personal accounts.

She also testified she "presumed" her husband filed his own income tax returns since "I was concerned with my own."

The final witnesses were Edwin Fearon, Pittsburgh crime laboratory handwriting expert, and Jane Allen, former stenographer in the district attorney's office.

Fearon identified the writing in four tax receipt books as that of Mrs. Liotta, even in the case of slips supposedly made out by another clerk.

Miss Allen testified Mrs. Liotta admitted in a statement that her husband had not worked since he was employed as a census taker in 1950.

House Passes Bill to Permit City Closing

If the State Senate agrees with a House-approved measure, the city of Monessen will be able to close its offices "officially" on Saturdays.

The Senate today received House-approved legislation authorizing Pennsylvania's 47 third-class cities to close city government offices on Saturday.

Monessen and many other cities have been closing their offices on Saturdays unaware that a state law required they remain open.

The House measure, which passed 131 to 51 over some Democratic objections, specifies the city council would have the authority to close certain city offices if it desired. The same bill was voted down last month when it failed to pull the necessary 106-vote constitutional majority.

Collision Occurs At Corner Here

Both drivers claimed they had the right-of-way in an accident yesterday afternoon at 5:15 at the intersection of Ninth street and Knox avenue, police said today.

Involved in the collision were Mrs. Anna Katsuleris, of 43 Overhill drive, and Edward Fayak, of 611 Division street.

Minor damage resulted.

City's Planners Will Meet Rostraver Officials Thursday

The Monessen Planning Commission will have a full schedule over the next week or so, it was indicated today by the chairman, Dr. Joseph Dudas.

Items of the master development plan for the City will be discussed with the Rostraver Township supervisors, with Pittsburgh Steel Co. and with Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad.

Thursday night the Commission and the Rostraver supervisors will examine some long-range plans for an area now within the township but which would probably be considered for annexation if the growth of the City continues. Authority of the Commission extends, for planning purposes only, three miles beyond the City limits. Cooperative planning between the City and township in this area is a very desirable goal, Dr. Dudas explained.

To Meet Duvall

Saturday afternoon the Commission will confer with Donald C. Duvall, Pittsburgh Steel vice-president, on plans to be developed for the West end of the City downtown, the locale of the company's main plant. Planned elimination of blight in this area will make available space for new commercial or industrial use. This is the matter which will receive consideration Saturday, Dr. Dudas said.

Properties of the P. & L. E. Railroad may figure prominently in redevelopment plans for the East end of the City and the central business district. Related problems will be discussed with John W. Barriger, president of the railroad, in a meeting tentatively scheduled for April 11.

First Visit Here

Barriger, who became chief executive of the railroad in 1956, will be making his first stop-over visit in Monessen, although he has previously toured the company's lines, including those in the Monongahela Valley.

The future development of Monessen, Dr. Dudas declared, will bring about some extensive changes both within the City and without. The Planning Commission is anxious that all of those affected by such changes will know of them well in advance and, whenever possible, participate in the planning that will have to be done.

"That's the background of these conferences and many more like them coming up", he said.

Goal Reached In Campaign of Band Parents

The goal in an honorary membership campaign, which concluded yesterday, was reached, according to reports at last night's meeting of the Monessen Band-Orchestra Parents Association in the band room at the High School.

Mrs. Nicholas Polkabla, ways and means chairman, reported on the campaign, and other reports were given by Mrs. Einar Ruokonen and Arvo Isaho, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Michael Kunsa, president, was in charge.

Plans were discussed for a party to be held for the students in the band and orchestra. The date was not set, but it will be held soon after he spring concert on April 25.

A banquet was planned for May 23 at the Slovak Home with Mrs. Michael Buchar as chairman. This affair will also honor band and orchestra members.

Luncheon was served following the meeting by Mrs. Polkabla, Mrs. Henry Glogosh, Mrs. Arvo Isaho, Mrs. Michael Basko and Mrs. John Hurrianko.

The next meeting will be May 6

A Monessen merchant, Rinard Woods, of 1416 Rostraver street, suffered a minor head injury late yesterday afternoon in an auto accident between Third and Fourth streets on Donner avenue, it was reported by police today.

His wife, Mrs. Stella Woods, was shaken up but not injured, it was said.

Woods received a head laceration that required two stitches.

According to police, the couple was traveling west on Donner avenue when their car was struck from behind by a panel truck driven by Albert Fister, of 410 Third street.

Both vehicles had to be towed away.

Dulles Hits Egypt on Canal Plan

BULLETIN

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP) — Foriegn Minister Golda Meir served notice on Egypt today that Israel would "stand on our rights for passage in the Suez canal and carry them into practice."

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called on Egypt today to disclose within the next 24 to 48 hours whether it is willing to enter into serious negotiations for operating the Suez Canal.

Dulles also reiterated that the United States does not propose to shoot its way through the canal, or to call for boycott of the international waterway.

Dulles told a news conference that Egypt's recent plan for operating the canal has certain weaknesses and shortcomings which should be corrected. Because of its wording, Dulles said the Egyptian plan may in fact be only a unilateral statement subject at any time to Egypt's unilateral action.

The secretary left no doubt that the United States still desires some form of international control and operation of the canal.

UN Principles Omitted

He pointed out that the Egyptian plan does not include the six principles approved last October by the United Nations Security Council for operating the canal. These points, he recalled, included provision for free and open transit of the canal and an agreement between Egypt and canal users for fixing tolls.

Dulles repeated his previous statements that the United States believes every country including Israel, has the right to send its ships through the canal. But he said this government, so far as he knows, has not been officially advised that Israel plans to send a ship through the canal.

On other subjects, Dulles:

—Said that the United States has given no secret assurances to Nationalist China that it will help defend Quemoy and Matsu Islands in event of a Communist attack. The only U. S. commitments, he said, are those publicly known and approved by congress namely —that the United States shall defend Formosa and the Pescadores Islands and related areas.

—Said the administration is still actively studying the question of whether to permit American reporters to go into Red China.

On the Middle East situation, Dulles warmly endorsed statements by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and an advisory committee to the effect that substantial progress has been made to assure tranquility in the Gaza area.

Earlier, U.S. officials said that lifting the ban on American travel in the Middle East relects optimism that peace will continue in that area.

Fine Snubbed At Opening of Turnpike Link

SCRANTON, Pa. (UP) — Former governor John S. Fine, who was not invited to attend ceremonies opening a new section of the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, was given a testimonial dinner Monday night at a inn near the newly opened interchange.

Fine, in one of the few references he made to the snub in his address to the more than 700 friends attending the dinner, said he "wasn't mad at anybody." He referred at another time to "some dark clouds of discourtesy" and commented later that "if somebody at Harrisburg fumbled the ball over the dedication program that's understandable."

Except for those few terse references, Fine devoted his entire address to the benefits Northeastern Pennsylvania may gain from the new highway. He termed the opening Monday a "wonderful day for this region."

The dinner was planned after Fine, in whose administration the extension was started, was not given an invitation to the ribbon cutting ceremonies.

During the dinner, a plaque signed by the mayors of Luzerne County's four cities, was presented the former governor. The plaque lauded him as the "father of the northeast extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike and builder of highways, bridges, and projects of lasting benefit to the people of Luzerne County."

Speaks Informally to Advertising Council; Cites Dangers Abroad

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower told a group of the nation's leading business executives today that achieving world peace is "far more important" than a tax cut.

Mr. Eisenhower spoke informally before the 13th Washington Conference of the Advertising Council, a group of top corporation executives drawn together early in World War II to tell the story of the American industrial and business effort.

Mr. Eisenhower told the group that "as much as we hate taxes," the problem of federal revenue takes second place behind the "over-riding objective for peace."

"In the long run the world must have peace or we will come close to that point where we must say that we will perish," the President said.

He urged members of the council to examine closely the facts of his fiscal 1958 budget. He admitted that these were "disagreeable facts."

U. S. Called 'War Monger'

Mr. Eisenhower said that in the American approach to other nations there are "lines of danger in several directions."

The President said it was "startling" to hear from countries around the Soviet perimeter that the United States was "a war-monger, a provocative institution."

He added that the United States should determine in its relations with other governments a point beyond which this government would not go.

Mr. Eisenhower, in his impromptu remarks, joined with his audience in advocating lower federal spending. But he pointed out that basic programs of his administration had to be supported.

His prime example was federal participation in school construction which, he said, suffers from "years of neglect."

He said there was one theory that "the federal government should keep its fingers out of the schools," but the fact remained that the federal government should assist the states in picking up the slack from World War II "if democracy is to be vital."

Ike's Caddy at Augusta Loses Job; 'Too Slow'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—A heavy-hearted caddy at the Augusta Masters golf tournament this week will be a frail Negro called "Cemetery," who's been fired as presidential caddy.

Pro Ed Dudley of the Augusta National Golf Club confirmed Monday that veteran caddy Willie Parteet, 51, has been "relieved of his duties" as President Eisenhower's personal caddy because he has become too slow.

Dudley, who usually plays with the President during the Chief Executive's golfing visits here, said the job has been given permanently to "Slim Jenkins," who caddied during the President's last trip.

Willie, dubbed "Cemetery" by the President himself, is "getting a little old and he can't keep up with the President," Dudley said. Parteet was formerly called "Dead Man."

Leader Warns Coal Industry Of Competition

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has warned Pennsylvania coalmen to meet competition in the future from natural gas and oil.

"Coal is no longer the undisputed kingpin of American industry," Leader told a crowd of nearly 20,000 gathered here Monday to celebrate the anniversary of the eight-hour day for miners. John Mitchell led the fight for the shortened work day in 1898.

The governor said the coal industry also faces future competition from atomic power. He asked the miners to support administration-sponsored legislation to expand civil service to the state's professional and technical employes to require registration of lobbyists.

United Mine Workers vice president Thomas Kennedy also reviewed a parade of 50 units along a mile and a half route.

The Prospectors from Donora won first prize yesterday for the best comedy act during the John Mitchell Day parade in Waynesburg. Nemocolin United Mine Workers local was judged the best appearing unit.

Eden Suffers a 'Slight Relapse'; To Visit Boston

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UP) —Sir Anthony Eden suffered a "slight relapse" of an abdominal disease and doctors today ordered him to speed up his timetable for hospitalipation at Boston.

Eden had planned to await a convenient sailing passage for Boston before leaving New Zealand, perhaps the end of this month.

It was at Boston where he underwent surgery in 1953 for a gall bladder ailment. The illness returned and forced his retirement as British prime minister last January.

He had hoped a leisurely vacation in New Zealand would restore his health, but he has had recurrent attacks of fever.

His New Zealand doctors were called in to examine him again today and immediately messaged Eden's physician in London, Sir Horace Evans.

In London, Sir Horace said, "The situation is really unchanged except that there has been a slight relapse and as a result I have advised that the Boston visit should be sooner.

"There is no cause for alarm."

Texas Election Today Could Swing Senate to the GOP

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — A lone Republican faced a horde of 18 Democrats today in a Texas special election that could swing the precarious balance of power in the United States Senate.

A total of 20 candidates sought the post.

If bad weather prevails today, a vote as slim as 600,000 may decide whether Republicans or Democrats run the Senate. The winner will fill the position held by interim appointee William Blakley of Dallas. Blakley filled in for Price Daniel, who became governor in January. There are 21 months remaining in the term.

At present, Democrats fill 49 seats in the Senate. If a Republican wins today, it will even the balance at 48-48 and give Vice President Richard M. Nixon the tie breaking vote.

Robert Johnson, general manager of the Texas Election Board, hoped for about 800,000, less than half the eligible voters in Texas, to go to the polls today between 8 a.m. EST and 8 p.m.

However, the turnout may be cut by thunderstorms, which are predicted for most of the state today, and snow in the upper Panhandle. It is the tornado season in Texas, and thunderstorms frequently herald twisters.

Johnson estimated the eligible vote in Texas at 1,980,830.

Democrats fear their vote may be split so many ways the minority Republican vote will slip in ahead of them.

Thad Hutcheson, a 41-year - old Houston lawyer, is the Republican candidate. He has been endorsed by President Eisenhower and Nixon as well as the state Republican organization.

H. J. Antoine Sr., a real estate man from Bastrop, is also running as a Republican, but the state committee disowned him and he apparently has made no campaign.

Five Democrats are widely known through previous races. They are Congressman - at-Large Martin Dies of Lufkin, Ralph Yarborough, an Austin attorney; state Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston; Agriculture Commissioner John White and former state Supreme Court Justice James P. Hart.

Dies is regarded as the leading candidate of conservative Democrats. Yarborough, three times an unsuccessful but strong candidate for governor, is considered the liberal wing leader. The state Democratic committee has not endorsed any candidate.

Second Spring Storm Belting Plains Area

By UNITED PRESS

The second big snowstorm of the spring spread through the Great Plains today. It approached blizzard proportions in some areas.

To the north, 20-degree-below cold poured down out of Canada. To the south and east of the heavy snow area, thunderstorms struck.

The new storm, following last week's damaging blizzard, hit hard in Colorado dumping 11 inches of snow at Lander, Wyo.

Warnings of heavy snow were issued for Colorado, western Kansas, western Nebraska and the Oklahoma panhandle. Near blizzard conditions were possible in southern Wyoming. Northern New Mexico was alerted by a provisional snow warning.

The Colorado Highway Department called the storm a "ground blizzard." At Denver, heavy snows tore down telephone lines and sent tree branches tumbling into the streets.

By mid-morning, snow was reported piling up on all routes north and south of Denver to the Wyoming and New Mexico state lines. The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported service was disrupted to at least seven Colorado communities.

From Montana to Minnesota the Weather Bureau reported that the Canadian cold had pushed temperatures down below zero.

Four to eight inches of snow fell in central and eastern Colorado with some spots getting even more.

The storm already was blamed for one death in Colorado. A motorist was killed near Georgetown

Work on Plan for Enforcement of State Sales Tax

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican legislative leaders were to meet today with the state Justice Department to work out further compromise agreements on enforcement and collection provisions in the GOP version of the 3 per cent sales tax.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said the huddle would include top House and Senate GOP chiefs, Attorney General Thomas D. McBride and deputies and "perhaps" some Democratic legislators. He said the talks would be confined to enforcement and collection provisions. The Republicans have ruled out any further revision of their amended sales tax bill and any changes made would go in a separate bill.

Johnson said the group "met on a common ground of agreement" Monday during a 2½ hour conference with McBride on the enforcement provisions. However he declined to spell out the terms of the compromise.

Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) said the compromise revisions to the tax may be ready for presentation to the Senate Republican caucus today. He said they would pertain only to enforcement, bonding requirements and penalty provisions.

The GOP plans to keep Senate amendments spelling out exemptions for manufacturers, shipbuilders and public utilities in the legislation already on Gov. George M. Leader's desk.

Prepare "Shell" Bill

The House Republicans prepared for compromise amendments by sponsoring a "shell" revision bill containing only the title stating it would amend the sales tax. The specific amendments will be filled in later when the GOP and McBride reach a settlement.

Leader, given a flat Republican rejection on pleas that the tax bill be recalled, also cancelled a meeting of his Tax Policy Advisory Committee scheduled for today. The governor told the committee "I will advise you of a subsequent date for the meeting."

Any concessions made by the GOP would be of little balm to the administration. Gov. Leader told the Legislature the revised tax bill smacked of "greed and tax dodging." The Justice Department produced a sharply worded report on the measure warning it may cause the sales tax to be ruled unconstitutional.

The governor has until Thursday midnight to take one of three options on the tax bill—sign it into law, let it go on the statute books without his signature or veto it. Its principal feature would make the current 3 per cent levy permanent rather than allowing it to drop to 2 per cent on June 1.

Six Killed as Air Force B25 Explodes, Falls

DICKSON, Tenn. (UP) —An Air Force B25 sounded like it backfired with two loud "pops" before it exploded and crashed in a rain with a loss of six lives Monday, a witness said.

The plane was carrying 10 civilians and Tactical Air Command personnel from Langley Air Force Base, Va., to a meeting in Memphis, Tenn. Four survivors were hospitalized with injuries.

Survivors said there was no advance warning of engine trouble.

Allen J. Petty, a farmer who witnessed the crash, said he was attracted by the sound of a "pop" in the air, "looked up and heard another pop—and then there was an explosion."

Six bodies were found at the crash scene about eight miles south of here. Wreckage was strewn over a one-mile area.

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader has asked state Senate confirmation of his appointment of John S. Filipek, of North Vandergrift, as justice of the peace for Parks Twp., Armstrong County, succeeding the late Robert E. Smouse. The appointment would expire in January 1958.

Woman Lied in Accusing Cops, Prosecutor Says

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A 30-year-old mother, who accused a city patrolman of molesting her, may face criminal charges herself as the result of testimony at a police trial board hearing, Dist. Atty. Edward C. Boyle indicated today.

The woman, Mrs. Eileen Tomacek, Pittsburgh, who said she was assaulted in a police car by one officer while another watched, was accused of lying by a surprise witness Monday.

"We felt all along this woman was lying under oath because she's changed her story so often," Boyle said.

At the trial board hearing, Mrs. Mary Golick, 67, McKees Rocks, who shares an apartment with Mrs. Tomacek's mother-in-law, testified that on March 18, the day after the alleged attack, she heard Mrs. Tomacek say:

"I'm going to sue the police and lie as much as I can, so I will get a lot of money, buy a big car and a farm and take you (her mother-in-law) with me."

The testimony came after the accused patrolman, Louis Chiarelli, 30, insisted he did not "lay a hand" on Mrs. Tomacek when he and his squad car partner, Patrolman George W. Smith, 28, questioned her in front of a police station. Smith testified the woman was "obviously intoxicated."

The trial board indicated it may question the mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Tomacek.

Iran Regime to Resign As Result of Slaying

TEHRAN, Iran (UP) — Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Gholi Ardalan told United Press today that the government will resign Wednesday. The move is believed to be a result of the slaying of three Americans.

"The government has not yet resigned," he said. "We are holding our final meeting tomorrow afternoon, after which we will tender our resignations to his royal highness, the Shah."

Gendarmerie sources reported, meanwhile, that three of the bandits believed to have killed the Americans have been slain in a fight with federal police near the Pakistan border in remote southeast Iran.

Although the slaying of the three Americans last week is considered the triggering action which set off the resignations, the underlying reason is the Shah's dissatisfaction with the nation's economic progress under Premier Hussein Ala.

Ala is scheduled to attend a memorial service at midday Wednesday for the three American victims of the brigands. They are Mr. and Mrs. Kevin M. Carroll, of Issaquah, Wash., and Brewster A. Wilson, of Portland, Ore.

The Shah is expected to call upon Dr. Manouchehr Eghbal, presently court minister and chancellor of the University of Tehran, to form a new cabinet on Thursday morning.

Ardalan is almost certain to be re-appointed foreign minister, which indicates a continuation of Iran's adherence to the Baghdad Pact and to policies of pro-Americanism and anti-Communism.

Colo., when his car skidded into a snow plow.

Weathermen said spring's second major storm could rival the snowstorm that paralyzed transportation in 13 western states last week and caused at least 48 deaths.

In the East, another disturbance brought widespread rain and showers from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Coast.

Hardest hit was Florida where up to 2 inches of rain swamped Tampa and Orlando in the past 24 hours. One-half inch of rain was reported at Altoona, Pa., during the night.

Forecasters said more rain was in store today over the middle and lower Mississippi Valley, New England, the Mid-Atlantic Coast and the eastern Ohio Valley. Rain, snow or drizzle was expected in the upper Mississippi Valley.

Asks Bus Rides For Parochials

HARISBURG (UP) — Rep. William F. Renwick (D-Elk) said today he was preparing a "legislative package" to allow parochial students to ride on public school buses.

Renwick said the proposed House legislation would amend the public school code to specify that any student of any school could ride on public school buses. One bill would pertain to third and fourth class districts. The two others would pertain to all districts and allow local municipalities to foot the transportation costs.

Renwick said his legislation was prompted by a situation in his hometown, St. Marys, where the municipality ruled the parochial pupils would have to pay for riding on the school buses.

Safe Landing

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) — A Northwest Orient airliner with 34 persons aboard made an emergency landing at Gen. Mitchell Field early today when the pilot detected landing gear trouble.

Two Attempts Made To Kill Jordan's King

By WALTER LOGAN

Damascus Radio reported today that Jordan's security forces had foiled two attempts to assassinate King Hussein of Jordan who is trying to keep his country from falling into the Communist camp.

The broadcast and other reports reaching neighboring Lebanon strongly hinted the attempts were Communist - inspired and carried out by Syrian extremists.

The reports coincided with reports Jordan's left-wing Premier Suleiman Nabulsi had resigned in a dispute with the pro - Western king over the danger of Communism to the tiny desert kingdom.

The new crisis in Jordan blew up as the United States lifted its ban on American travel in the Middle East in a move reflecting Washington optimism that peace will continue in the area.

Dulles Holds Conference

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was expected to expand further on American hopes for a Middle East settlement at a news conference today.

Mrs. Golda Meir, the Israeli foreign minister, also is expected to give further details on the Middle East situation when she makes a major foreign policy address to the Knesset (parliament) today.

She was expected to warn Egypt that Israel intends to have free passage through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba although some Israeli newspapers said editorially today the Suez case had been lost. She also may discuss the British withdrawal from the Jordanian port of Aqaba.

Heavy explosions rocked Israel's southern port of Eilat today from Aqaba, five miles away, where withdrawing British forces were destroying their ammunition stocks. Tongues of flame could be seen leaping high into the air and houses in Eilat were shaken to their foundations.

Israel has looked on Britain as a stabilizing factor in strife - torn Jordan and regarded the withdrawal with dismay. There also have been reports Saudi Arabian troops would move in after the British troops to reestablish the Arab blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Navy Plane Crashes; Crew of 11 All Dead

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va. (UP) — A Navy patrol bomber crashed and exploded in flames at the Chincoteague Naval Air Station today and the Navy reported 11 persons were killed.

The twin-engined P2V6M plane struck the ground a short distance from the base, which is located six miles east of here on Virginia's Eastern Shore.

Police headquarters here said the plane apparently crashed on takeoff around 7 a.m. EST.

"There was a crash which sounded like thunder here," a police officer said.

We don't know whether the explosion happened in the air or on the ground but we do know it could be heard six miles away."

The Navy said 11 men were aboard the plane and all were killed. The spokesman said the plane was on a routine flight from Chincoteague to the Marine base at Cherry Point, N.C.

The crash occurred 90 seconds after the patrol bomber took off on its flight, the Navy said.

Man Kills Wife, Self; Two Police Officers Injured

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP) — An unemployed laborer shot and killed his wife in their home at Point Marion Monday night, wounded two police officers and then took his life with the same weapon.

Robert Birch, 37, killed his wife, Juanita, 34, with a bullet in the head as their four young children watched. The children ran to neighbors who called police.

Birch later fired at his mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Wilson, when she tried to enter the house, but the shot missed her and struck Patrolman William Moser, 66, in the chest.

Another bullet nicked the left arm of State Police Cpl. Harlan Rarig of the Uniontown barracks as four troopers and two borough officers tried to rush the house.

Birch went to an upstairs bedroom and threatened to shoot anyone coming after him. Officers fired tear gas into the house, waited an hour and then entered.

They found Birch's body on a bed. He had fired a bullet in his head.

Moser was taken to Uniontown Hospital where his condition was listed as fair. Rarig was treated by a physician.

Point Marion lies on the Pennsylvania - West Virginia border in Fayette County. Burgess Sidwell Hackney said Birch "must have gone berserk." He said Birch was a "good family man."

The children told police no argument preceded the shooting.

Birch had been out of work in recent weeks. His last job was as a laborer in Alliance, Ohio.

Another Reason For Action

WHAT has been happening at the Corning Glass Co. plant in Charleroi in recent months ought to be giving further impetus to the Monongahela Valley's industrial development efforts.

A gradual curtailment of production at Corning's Charleroi plant, which is among the firm's oldest facilities, has seen employment drop from 1,200 to about 800 since last fall.

A plant official who asked to remain anonymous told The Daily Independent yesterday that most of the 400 layoffs are temporary and many of those affected can expect to be called back when the plant begins production on some new products.

This official vehemently denied the rumors that have been current in the Valley for some time that Corning is in the process of leaving Charleroi entirely and redistributing its production to more modern plants.

But in spite of these welcome reassurances, which we are prepared to accept at face value, ordinary prudence requires, it seems to us, that the communities of the Valley regard Corning as one of its marginal sources of employment and payroll.

The meaning of this is clear enough: it is simply that some more of our economic eggs are going into the basked marked "steel". The baskets marked "glass" and "coal" are not nearly as full as they once were.

This, of course, is the fundamental weakness of our neighborhood economy. We are entirely too dependent upon a single heavy industry — and an industry with a long record of wide fluctuations of employment.

To reduce this dependence, to get a more equitable distribution of our economic eggs, is a difficult and challenging project for the people of this area. But as we have said here many times, it should be pursued when times are good, when money is reasonably plentiful and when, therefore, we are operating from a position of strength.

To wait until we are on our backs, as for instance the anthracite coal region waited, could make the job infinitely more difficult, if not impossible.

The Only Course

THE REPUBLICAN leaders at Harrisburg seem to have the courage of their convictions. They are willing to accept full responsibility for the sales tax bill which now rests on Governor Leader's desk.

This is the meaning, obviously, of their refusal of the Governor's request to call the bill back for reconsideration in the light of certain Democratic criticisms, chiefly of exemptions for utilities and shipbuilders.

It is, of course, necessary for somebody to make a decision. Pennsylvania had one unforgettable experience with writing tax legislation by means of a marathon controversy, and its people certainly do not want another such experience very soon.

So while we dislike to see a measure of this importance become law with just one-party support in the legislature, that is preferable to no tax law at all. And as long as the Republicans are willing to accept full responsibility in case the sales tax law proves unfair or unenforceable, it seems to us that prudence requires the Governor to let it become law and get on with the job of enforcing it conscientiously and to the best of his ability.

Not Good Enough

THE ANNUAL Red Cross appeal in the Monessen-Belle Vernon Chapter area is producing results to date which are something less than spectacular. In fact, it is hardly an exaggeration to say that these results are pitifully inadequate to the need. Less than half of the goal of $16,829 is reported raised, and the official campaign period has expired.

This will never do, of course. And the campaign is being continued until the results are nearer the goal.

It should not be necessary at this late date in the nation's history to "sell" the American people on the Red Cross and the need for keeping at full strength. Too often has its competent hand reached into all our communities in times of desperate need to bring relief from suffering.

We seem to feel that the Red Cross is automatically ready when disaster strikes. But it isn't. It is only ready because the American people have enabled it to be ready by supporting its fund appeals. We in this area must do no less than our share.

Merry-Go-Round—

GOP Isn't Defending Ike's Budget

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON -- Last week, Washington watched a stampeding coalition of Republicans and Dixiecrats cut down appropriation after appropriation in the Eisenhower budget like a tractor-drawn mowing machine knocking down a field of hay.

Mr. Pearson

In their headlong rush for economy, they lopped off such items as $20,000 for research into radiation from atomic fallout. Apparently the congressmen did not know that we live in an atomic age. They knocked off $100,000 to revise the Cost of Living Index, something both management and labor find absolutely necessary in fixing wages.

They knocked out $50,000 to hire three or four women in the Women's Bureau to study the employment of older women, a problem which has greatly increased of late. The coalition shrewdly prompted Congresswoman Blitch of Georgia to make the motion cutting the Women's Bureau.

And they knocked off $100,000 for the Bureau of Veterans' Re-employment, an agency of great importance to veterans, especially since the GI bill of rights is no more.

As these important, but inexpensive items were thrown into the congressional ashcan, not one Republican rose to champion the budget of the Republican administration. Some of the Democrats stood up to defend the President, but not one Republican.

Piddling Savings

After three days of frantic amendments, Congressman John Fogarty, Rhode Island Democrat, reminded his hell-bent-for-economy colleagues that they had cut only $1,345,000.

"At that rate," said Wayne Hays, Ohio Democrat, "in 30 days we could cut it $10,000,000, and if we stayed here a year or 300 days we could cut it $100,000,000."

"I want to reiterate to you," reminded Democrat Fogarty, chief champion of the Eisenhower budget, "that you pass laws and then you fail to carry out your responsibility of seeing that necessary appropriations are made to administer them.

"The amendments offered during the last three days have been without constructive evaluation of what damage they will do. In your hysteria you do not stop here.

"My friends on the other (Republican) side of the aisle have been notably conspicuous by the anemic support they have given their leader, the President of the United States.

"The press has been carrying stories of tens of millions of dollars of savings. Now, let us set the record straight. Let us not fool the public and let us not fool ourselves. The greatest part of the so-called savings will not save the U. S. Treasury one cent."

He went on to point out that commitments had been made by the U. S. Government, in many cases to the individual 48 states. And that if the money was not appropriated now, Congress would simply have to come back and appropriate it later.

Cutting Food and Drugs

Republicans, however, paid little attention to the Democratic champion of the Eisenhower budget. They kept on cutting. They cut $1,000,000 for new inspectors for the Food and Drug Administration, chief watchdog of American housewives.

At present, Food and Drug has enough inspectors to inspect chicken-processing plants only once every 12 years. It can inspect many drug companies only once every eight or nine years.

It has been trying to curb the use of poison sprays on fruits and vegetables. It found oyster dealers watering their cans so the public was buying more water than oysters. It had difficulty checking Salk vaccine because of its shortage of inspectors.

However, Congressman Charles Jonas, the only Republican from North Carolina, moved to strike all money for additional inspectors. He won by a margin of one vote — though a roll-call vote will come up again today (April 2), at which time the House could reverse him.

Jonas did not win, however, until after another Carolinian, Mendel Rivers, this one a Democrat and from South Carolina, went to bat for the Republican President's budget and for more protection for housewives.

"During the month of February," Rivers said, "271,000 pounds of contaminated food products were taken off the market. Another 239,000 pounds were destroyed by the owners under the supervision of inspectors. Six drug products were seized because they were improperly labeled. A bakery was seized because the pies and cakes were contaminated with insect and rodent filth.

"The Food and Drug Administration is small," continued the South Carolinian. "Meanwhile, the volume of all these foods, drugs, and cosmetics has been growing in proportion to the needs of our expanding population. The 300 FDA inspectors are responsible for the checking of over $62 billion of products.

Try, Try Again

From Washington—

Who Decides on Disability?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

One certain effect of clearing up what happens in the event of presidential disability will be to increase further the prestige and power of the Vice President.

This isn't bad. This is good for two reasons:

Mr. Drummond

It will compel both political parties to nominate — deliberately not just occasionally by accident — more qualified men as vice presidential candidates.

It will insure the fuller training and use of a Vice President so that he will be better equipped to take over the duties of the President either temporarily or permanently.

We are well along toward achieving both of these ends. Time was when every qualification of a vice presidential nominee was considered except his fitness to succeed to the presidency or to discharge its duties. No future national convention will dare take such an attitude toward the vice presidency, particularly if a Vice President can become "acting President" for a shorter or longer period, whenever the President determines that he is unable to carry on his duties.

Office Changed

The Vice President has been radically transformed during the past four years. The Congressional Quarterly does not put it too strongly when it says the office under Mr. Nixon has "changed from a shelf to a stepping stone." But this wasn't primarily because President Eisenhower wanted to promote Mr. Nixon but because he believed that every Vice President should be used and trained for the supreme eventuality of having to take over. To this end Mr. Eisenhower has already:

Brought his Vice President into the center of administration policy-making and made him a participating partner, not an on-looker.

Directed him to preside over meetings of the cabinet and National Security Council whenever the President was absent. (No other Vice President has done this.)

Assigned him new executive duties, including the chairmanship of the President's Committee on Government Contracts to reduce racial discrimination wherever the government does business.

Used Mr. Nixon as a goodwill Ambassador — and as his own eyes and ears — on four long 114,000 miles and visiting nearly trips abroad, traveling more than 40 countries.

Enlarging the role of the Vice President did not begin with President Eisenhower. It began seriously with President Roosevelt who undertook, not too successfully, to use Vice President Henry Wallace in the executive branch before and during the war. Congress went further in 1947 when, at President Truman's initiative, it created the National Security Council and made the Vice President a statutory member.

It is evident that Mr. Eisenhower is intent upon filling in the gap in the Constitution relating to presidential disability. There are two obvious and easy steps to take:

To make it clear, in the event the President is temporarily unable to discharge his duties, that the power of his office, not the presidency itself, devolves upon the Vice President.

That the President on his own motion may determine when he is unable to discharge his duties and when he shall resume thus, during which period the Vice President would become "acting President."

Another Question

But these actions would deal only with two-thirds of the problem. It would be egregiously shortsighted to go through the difficult process of constitutional amendment and leave unanswered the question which has plagued the nation so seriously in the past: who shall determine presidential disability when a President is either unable or unwilling to do so himself?

This is no theoretical question. President Garfield was unable to perform his duties for two and a half months. President Wilson was unable to take decisions for periods over a year and a half. Neither did anything about it and because the Constitution is silent on this point no one else was able to do so.

Surely the issue of presidential disability ought to be cleared up wholly, not just partly.

Ideas for Cities—

Combine Police, Fire Work, Mayor Urges

By ROBERT IRVIN

DETROIT (UP)—Mayor Orville Hubbard of suburban Dearborn is pushing two new ideas in city government — combining the Police and Fire Departments and creating a "Dearborn in Florida" for vacationing and retired residents.

Hubbard says the city is buying 25 station wagons which will serve as combination police and fire wagons and also as ambulances. They will be equipped with stretchers, fire extinguishers, gas masks and other fire equipment.

"We've begun hiring new men to man the wagons," he says. "They will be trained as firemen and policemen. Later on we hope to train our present firemen as policemen and vice versa. They'll all get the same pay and all will wear police uniforms."

The mayor says that policemen usually arrive at the scene of a fire first, anyway. Then they stand around waiting for the firemen to arrive.

"Now they can be of some help" he says. "Say a fire happens in the middle of the night. The men have to wake up, put on their clothes, slide down the pole, hop into their engines and go out the door. By that time the policemen are already on the scene.

"This way one of our station wagon crews may be able to handle a small fire. Or, at least, they will have things set up when the big equipment arrives."

As for a Dearborn in Florida, voters will decide in an election today if they want to spend the money for such a plan.

"It's a good idea," Hubbard says. "Our people could retire to Florida and still have their old friends around them. And we'll build some small apartments for vacationers to use."

Hubbard and other officials met last week with a Florida land developer who is willing to donate 1,000 acres for creation of a southern haven. The land is part of 10-square-mile tract midway between Miami and Daytona.

The developer believes the Dearborn start would lead to a speedy development of the rest of the land. Hubbard says the city has also explored the possibility of a large 3,000 acre purchase, increasing the Dearborn tax rate about $4.

The Cynic's Corner—

"Oh, oh . . . guess who's going to make a report on the Bermuda Conference . . . !"

It's a Fact—

Thousands of youngsters go to school in the United States under the installment plan—parents underwriting their education the same way as they do the TV set, family car, etc.

There are no known existing direct decendants of William Shakespeare.

"The number of Indians in America at the time of Christopher Colombus' arrival has been estimated at about 1,115,000.

Behind The News—

Russians Alarmed by Guided Missiles

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia seems to be seriously alarmed over the guided missiles situation.

It is now clear that Russia's warnings to Norway and Denmark against establishing atomic weapons bases on their territory are part of a pattern.

Mr. McCann

It is quite probable that a similar warning may be sent soon to West Germany. Warnings may go also to Great Britain and France.

President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced on March 24, at the end of their conference in Bermuda, that the United States would make "certain guided missiles" available to Britain.

Already In Germany

But even before that, it had been reported authoritatively that United States troops in Germany were now equipped with atomic warheads.

Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin sent a letter to Norwegian Premier Einar Gerhardsen on March 21 warning him that Norway would face a catastrophic attack by H-bombs if it continued to let its territory be "utilized by certain big power aggressive circles to set up military bases against the Soviet Union."

Bulganin sent a similar warning to Premier H. C. Hansen of Denmark last Friday.

It will be noted that Bulganin's warning to Norway was sent three days before the Bermuda announcement that guided missiles would be made available to Britain.

Bulganin, however, mentioned that American troops equipped with atomic weapons were to be stationed in "a number" of countries and that the new West German army and other North Atlantic Treaty forces were to be supplied with atomic weapons.

This statement apparently was the result in part of a news leak which NATO authorities tried to cover up.

On March 14, Air Marshal the Earl of Bandon, commanding the 2nd Allied Tactical Air Force in Germany, announced that his bombers would be equipped with tactical atomic weapons soon.

West German spokesmen followed up next day with a statement that American troops in Germany were equipped with atomic warheads. This really was no secret, but the fact never had been announced officially.

Both United States and British headquarters in Germany were openly displeased at the statements of Lord Bandon and the West German spokesmen, and tried to shut off discussion of them.

Foresee Atomic Storehouse

The Russians seem to foresee a time, however far in the future, when guided missiles and other atomic weapons will be stored ready for use not only in West Germany and Britain but in Norway, Denmark and other countries which belong to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Certainly, the Russians have some reason to worry. But there is no need for them to worry seriously unless they foresee the possibility that Russia itself might start World War III. Such a war might be started deliberately, as a matter of Communist aggressive policy. Or it might be started by the sort of tragic blunders that involved Adolf Hitler in a world war which he did not plan.

Hitler just overstepped a clearly marked line. So might Russia.

The Lighter Side—

Pleasant Little Man Makes Loud Bangs

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—A pleasant little man who specializes in planting flowers in the sky by night is here with two and one-half tons of explosives planning to set off one of the biggest bangs the Japanese ever have made in this country.

Toshio Ogatsu, who represents the 12th generation of his family to delve into the spectacular art of fireworks, has arrived from Japan to supervise an hour-long flowering of posies, flaming goldfish, and flying dragons over the Hudson River.

The display, scheduled for the night of April 15, will herald the first U.S. World Trade Fair, to be held here April 14-27. The fireworks were made in Japan by some 150 companies, including the Marutamaya Ogatsu firm, of which Toshio Ogatsu is president.

Gives Lantern Signals

In Japan, they whip up a fireworks display for you for events both big and little. Ogatsu figures he has supervised at least 3,000 big displays in the last 20 years —not counting the smaller outbursts honoring such things as store openings.

The fireworks will be a gift to New York from the Japan External Trade Recovery Organization and from the Japan Trade Center here. Ogatsu in his home country cues the setting off of the works by waving red, blue, and green lanterns at the setter-offers.

For the upcoming program, he has drawn a diagram showing which burst is to go off from where, and when. Interviewed through an interpreter, he turned out to be an affable, wiry type in a double-breasted blue coat, brown pants, and white shoes, with well-oiled, brushed-down hair parted neatly on the right side.

His esteemed eleventh forefather, Ochi Tangono Nudo Mchishige, started the family in the business about 250 years ago, making flares. It soon became apparent that the flare was a beautiful thing. Ogatsu said, and fireworks creation began. The name Ogatsu, incidentally, is pronounced "Oh-Gots," and never mind the final "U."

Began Career Early

Little Toshio started in the business at age 7, putting glue on paper and pasting it into fireworks balls. He did this in the factory for three years (it got "very boring") and then went into powder mixing and pellet forming and missile stuffing and eventually progressed to the technical and creative side

His favorite display is the giant chrysanthemum, a thing which, when done on the grand scale, blossoms out to about 1000 feet in diameter. It was invented about 80 years ago in Japan. Ogatsu about 20 years ago added his own touches, putting in a stem and center section.

Each firm has its own trade secrets, handed down over the years. One of Ogatsu's is concerned with shaping petal edges just right.

Ogatsu has created displays in many countries. The most memorable, for him, was in Mexico last year. It was in two parts. At the end of the first, the crowd started for him, a howling mob. He ran terrified. They caught him. Women kissed him. People tore his clothes.

They lifted him to their shoulders and carried him around for half an hour, cheering as if he were a hero, like a bullfighter. He still shakes his head and grins when he thinks about it.

No Truth Yet to Musial Rumor

There's no truth to the rumor that Donora's Stan Musial has donated $15,000 toward the new Monongahela Valley Catholic High School. Not as yet, at least . . . Incidentally, sponsors of the drive are a little disturbed that the incorrect report got into print. They feel the rumor may cause Stan some embarrassment . . . Penn State will add Vanderbilt and Marquette to its football schedule next season. Vanderbilt will be the Homecoming attraction on October 19 . . . At West Virginia University, there will be no admission for baseball games this season. University officials report that they're trying "to create interest in college baseball."

It's almost a certainty that Charleroi High will be invited back to the Johnstown basketball tournament to defend its title next season . . . Another WPIAL school under consideration for the Johnstown show is McKeesport. The Tigers also have a standing invitation to return to the Ford City event, which next year will include Baldwin and Scott instead of Monessen and Aliquippa . . . Incidentally the Greyhounds are nixing all tourney bids, pending arrangements by the Movie Club to promote a holiday tourney of its own with Monessen as the host school.

Troychak Parking Cars at Palestra

One of the fellows parking cars at the Penn Palestra for Saturday's title basketball game between Sharon and Chester was Dennis Troychak, ex Monessen High gridder. Dennis, a standout tackle as a sophomore at Penn last season, has trimmed down to a mere 205, according to his coaches . . . Incidentally a noisy group of fans from McKeesport and Farrell let everyone at the Palestra know that they were backing Sharon. They carried placards and signs to that effect . . . Three of the four teams in the recent WPIAL tournament semi-finals were at Philadelphia for the game. The only missing club was Charleroi.

The Mon Valley Baseball League wou'dn't go wrong by elevating Monessen's Chuck Zubritsky to commissioner. Chuck served as league secretary last season under George Kuvinka, who has since resigned . . . Bimbo Cecconi, the former Donora and Pitt athlete, isn't growing any older. Bimbo, new football-basketball coach at Sharpsburg High, looked great in the recent Ozark Tournament. He was one of the big reasons why Donora Last Chance walked off with the title . . . Bob Slobodnik, Harbrack High's fine 6-8 basketball prospect, is trying to make up his mind between West Virginia and Duquesne.

John Hewitt Takes Exam at Navy

John Hewitt, Bellmar High's fine football center, is reportedly headed for either Navy or Maryland. John took the stiff entrance exam at Annapolis the other day and the outcome of that test will probably dictate his future . . . Hewitt, by the way, is a good student . . . The Cincinnati Reds have reassigned Monessen's Mike Young to their Douglas, Georgia, training site. Young had been with Nashville . . . Clemson College is expecting big things from Bill Thomas, of Perryopolis, a husky football center who was a backfield star during his high school days . . . Virgina University, rated as a football "comer," has scouts throughout the WPIAL beating the bushes for talent.

Old Timers Better Boxers, Says Tunney

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UP) — Former world heavyweight champion Gene Tunney went another fast round with Shakespeare today and the present day fighters lost a one-sided decision.

"The present eye sees the present object," Tunney intoned, adding with kindly concession "That's from Shakespeare, y'know."

This, he explained, fully sums up a current tendency to concentrate fistic adulation on modern performers and overlook the old timers.

"But actually," asserted the man who took the title from Jack Dempsey in 1926 "the old timers had much more finesse and ring generalship."

Then he proceeded to head his all-time heavyweight champion parade with four old-timers, placed "Sugar Ray" Robinson no better than fourth among the all-time middleweights, and predicted that Rocky Marciano would not make a comeback but if he did would "quickly" knock out Floyd Patterson.

"Dempsey would have to be the all-time tops in my book followed by John L. Sullivan, Bob Fitzsimmons, Gentleman Jim Corbett and Joe Louis," Tunney said. It must be pointed out that modesty forbids Tunney to rank himself but, considering the fact that he twice defeated Dempsey, the current day crop stands no better than sixth in his private mind.

"I put Corbett ahead of Louis because I believe he would have outsmarted Louis," said the florid-faced Tunney, who still looks hard and fit at 58. "Marciano, too, stacks up very well with those of the past but he simply didn't have the finesse and ring generalship."

But the moderns get short shrift overall from the master boxer who lost only one bout before retiring as the undefeated heavyweight champion in 1928.

"Nobody has been near Sugar Ray Robinson in recent years," Tunney said. "He was really a superior kind of fighter. And yet Robinson was not the greatest middleweight I ever saw. It is my belief that Harry Greb, Mickey Walker and Mike Gibbons all would have beaten him."

There are those who might find this statement suspect on consideration that Greb was the only man who defeated Tunney. That was one which the Shakespeare-quoting Marine subsequently reversed, incidentally.

As for Patterson, Tunney takes a dim view of the current heavyweight champion's lack of experience and top flight opposition.

"Certainly he isn't experienced enough for anyone to even start comparing him with the great heavyweight champions," Tunney analyzed. "And arriving at the top so quickly figures to work against him more than help him. Because now he loses the opportunity to obtain the experience which only frequent action can give a fighter. If Marciano should make a comeback, which I doubt, he would be too strong and have too much experience for Patterson and knock him out quickly."

Which takes care of the moderns right up to the moment and leaves the old timers, as far as James Joseph Tunney is concerned, still in complete command.

Senators Destined For Cellar

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla. (UP) — The Washington Senators are the most forlorn looking major league club in Florida and the way they stack up now, not even an act of Congress could keep them out of the American League cellar.

No one is more conscious of the shortcomings of the club than its manager, Chuck Dressen. Last year the Senators finished seventh, 38 games behind the Yankees, but seven games in front of the Kansas City Athletics. Dressen won't say so, but he would be happy to finish seventh again.

He tabs his catching as the "strongest department we have." One of his receivers, Clint Courtney, is being sought by the White Sox. The other two are Ed Fitzgerald and Lou Berberet. Fitzgerald batted .304 last season, Courtney an even .300 and Berberet, who could win the No. 1 job, .261.

Wants Better Pitching

He is hoping for improvement in his pitching staff which numbers Chuck Stobbs (15-15), Pedro Ramos (12-10), Camilo Pascual (8-16) and Ted Abernathy, who was sent down to Louisville last season after winning only one game while losing three with Washington.

"Pascual should be a lot better and I think Abernathy is really going to help," Dressen said. "And Ramos can beat the Red Sox."

Ramos beat them six times last season while losing to them only once.

Behind those four, he is banking on two rookies to come through. They are Dick Hyde, a 15-game winner with Chattanooga, and Garland Shifflett, who won 11 at Charlotte.

Then there are Bob Chakales, a Cleveland cast-off whose record was 4-4 with Washington last season; southpaw Bob Wiesler, the ex-Yankee who had a 3-12 record with the Senators in 1956; and Dean Stone, 5-7 last year. Dick Brodowski, the ex-Red Sox hurler who won 11 at Louisville last year, also may stick.

Dressen has Pete Runnels on first base and he will start the season there with the weak-throwing Roy Sievers in left field. Eddie Yost will be at third.

Three Vie At Short

Jose Valdivielso, a slick fielder but poor hitter; Jerry Snyder, an infield spare last season and Lyle Luttrell are battling for the shortstop berth with Herb Plews back at second.

Jim Lemon, who hit 27 homers and batted in 96 runs for Washington last year will start in right. But center field is a problem because between Sievers and Lemon, Dressen really needs a ball hawk, for both are from good fielders.

Karl Olson, whom the Red Sox gave up on; Whitey Herzog, who hit only .245 with Washington last year, and Jerry Schoonmaker, a bonus player, are the leading center field candidates.

Buntag Asked to Explain Cut of Eubank's Purse

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Welterweight Johnny Eubanks' manager and seconds will have a hearing before the state Athletic Commission on the fighter's claim he got only $170 from a $700 fight purse.

Eubanks' claim was made Monday when he was brought before Criminal Court Judge Loran L. Lewis for failure to keep up $7 weekly payments toward the support of a child.

Lewis advised the fighter, who said he was broke and jobless, to "get out of the fight business" and get a steady job.

Commissioner Paul G. Sullivan said after the court hearing that "without reflection on the good faith or actions of anyone involved" Eubanks and his manager and seconds will be "brought before the Athletic Commission to clarify the matter." No date was set for the hearing.

Eubanks' manager, P. J. (Bunny) Buntag, denied the fighter received only $170 from a $700 purse earned in a recent fight with Wilf Greaves.

"I have the records. There was nothing the matter with the distribution of the purse," he said.

Boxing regulations permit a manager to take no more than one-third of a fighter's purse. Training expenses usually are paid from the fighter's share.

Monessen Sweeps In PNA Bowling

Monessen blanked Charleroi and Arnold City swept over Bentleyville in Mon Valley PNA Ladies League bowling last weekend.

Scoring leaders included Helen Kizas, 159-410 (Monessen); Stella Kroskie, 155-412 (Arnold City); Irene Kulbacki, 141-410 (Charleroi); Bea DeValle, 140, and Nellie Marshalek, 365 (Bentleyville).

Standings show Bentleyville, 26-13; Arnold City, 21-18; Monessen, 21-18, and Charleroi, 10-29.

Junior High Spikers In Tourney Thursday

Monessen's Junior High volleyballers — described by their coach as "the most willing group of boys I've ever worked with" — will take part in the annual Junior WPIAL Tournament at Braddock on Thursday.

Coach John (Corky) DeMillion's Junior Hounds will be one of 22 teams competing in the tourney. Another district entry is Rostraver.

Monessen has drawn an opening round bye in Thursday's show. The local lads will begin against the winner.

Actually DeMillion doesn't expect his boys to go too far in the tourney.

"The odds are stacked against us," reasoned DeMillion. "To begin with, our team is inexperienced. Then, too, our side will be going up against older youngsters since some of the Junior High entries include tenth graders."

Great Potential

However DeMillion hastened that the current Monessen Junior aggregation has great potential.

"The boys are willing and anxious to learn," he said. "With spirit like that, they're bound to develop."

The Monessen Juniors appeared in only one other match this season. They lost a close assignment at Carroll Twp. Both teams experimented throughout the contest.

Dupke to Head West Penn Coaches Group

Emil Dupke, coach at Washington High School, has been elected president of the Western Pennsylvania Coaches Association for the coming year.

Dupke was elected during the business session of the annual all-day clinic at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport last Saturday. In all, 300 coaches took part in the voting.

Forrest Evashevski of Iowa's Rose Bowl champions was the main speaker at the clinic and outlined his successful style of football offense.

Chosen to serve as officers of the group along with Dupke were Dan Galbraith of Shaler, First Vice President; Ossie Rometo of Turtle Creek, Second Vice President; Ralph Fife of Mt. Lebanon Third Vice President; Al Crevar of Baldwin Secretary-Treasurer.

Representatives on the Board of Control are: Mario Marterelli of West View for Class AA Schools; Fred Loeffler of Dormont for Class A Schools; and Bill Storer of Bellevue for Class B Schools.

The coaches paid tribute to longtime Secretary-Treasurer Marlin (Pop) Wenrich of Crafton, who is retiring this year.

Eagles Announce Grid Schedule

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Philadelphia Eagles today announced a six game home schedule for the 1957 football season, opening with the championship New York Giants on Saturday night Oct. 5, at Connie Mack Stadium.

The home schedule was listed as follows: Oct. 5, New York Giants; Oct 20, Cleveland Browns,; Nov. 10, Detroit Lions; Nov. 24, Washington Redskins; Dec. 1,. Pittsburgh Steelers, and Dec. 14, Chicago Cardinals.

Four of the six home games, all scheduled for Connie Mack Stadium, will be played on Sunday afternoon. The Detroit game marks the first time the two have met since 1954, when the Lions sued the Eagles to clinch the Western Conference title.

Sharon Congratulated By State Senate

HARRISBURG (UP) Sharon's schoolboy basketball team, which captured the PIAA Class "A" diadem at Philadelphia last Saturday, was extended congratulations by the state Senate Monday.

The Senate unanimously approved a resolution congratulating the unbeaten school for its 59-50 decision over Chester in the Class "A" final. The resolution was sponsored by Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford).

The chamber also honored Shannock Valley for capturing western Pennsylvania honors in Class "B" competition. Shannock Valley lost its quest for the state title in the finals to Fountain Hill.

Bucs Trim Roster To 31 Players

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UP) —The Pirates trimmed their roster to 31 players Monday by optioning of rookie right-handed pitcher George Witt to Hollywood.

Pitchers Fred Waters and Benny Daniels, who had been working out with the Bucs, also were returned to Hollywood.

Rain May Erase Entire Exhibition Schedule

Schoolboy Baseballers Face Prospect of No Warm-up Games

Unless the weatherman decides to cooperate in a hurry, there will be no scholastic exhibition baseball games this season.

All of yesterday's scheduled games were wiped out. The same thing will probably happen to this afternoon's contests.

"And I don't see how we can play tomorrow, either," said Monessen High Athletic Director Everett Pancook. "They'll probably need row boats to get around after all of this rain."

Significantly, the long-range weather forecast calls for much cooler weather late this week. Thus there's a strong possibility that no exhibition games will ever be played.

The WPIAL season is scheduled to get underway next Monday.

Hope at Least

By nature, though, baseball coaches have come to be optimistic about the weather. So all of them are hoping to squeeze in at least one game.

Three contests are scheduled this afternoon, but no one — not even the coaches — expect them to be staged. South Huntingdon is to appear at Bellmar, Charleroi is to go to Washington and Monongahela is to travel to Elizabeth.

Tomorrow two more games are listed: McKeesport at Monessen and Bellmar at Hempfield.

Chances are both of those tussles will eventually be cancelled.

Faint Hope

There is some faint hope that the weather will clear enough by Thursday to permit Monessen to play host to West Newton, Charleroi to welcome Beth Joint, Bellmar to go to South Huntingdon, Monongahela to lay out the mat for Clairton and Donora to welcome Elizabeth.

In defiance of the weather, here is the week's tentative exhibition card:

In total, they will represent more than 4,200 leagues and the interests of more than 700,000 boys who play Little League Baseball.

Inaugurated in 1956, the Congress provides a democratic approach to the problems, rules, and policies by which the program operates.

Mayor Richard J. Daly of Chicago heads the list of guests which includes former Cleveland Indian pitcher, Bob Feller; Buddy Blattner, one-time infielder of the New York Giants and now a partner of Dizzy Dean on television's "Game of the Week" program, Billy Rogell, former infield star of the Detroit Tigers and now a member of the Detroit City Council; Rogers Hornsby, Recreation Director for the City of Chicago; Hal Schumacher, one-time great pitcher for the New York Giants; and others prominently identified with baseball and youth activites.

Frederick Wertz, President of Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa., both members of the Board of Directors of Little League, will address the Congress as will Peter J. McGovern, President and Chairman of the Board.

On the agenda will be a review of the regulations and policies of the program and adoption of amendments to the playing rules. A highlight of the Congress will be the election of five delegates to the Board of Directors, each to serve a one-time term.

AAU Wrestling Tournament in Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—This little town, where wrestling draws better than any other sport, sees its first big time tournament Wednesday when more than 400 wrestlers open competition in the four-day AAU championships.

The grapplers, including collegiate champions and independent amateurs from the United States, Canada, Mexico and Japan, will vie for championships in free style and Greco-Roman divisions.

Japan has a team of national champions entered in the eight weight classes ranging from 114 pounds to heavyweight.

The field will include many who competed in the NCAA championships at Pittsburgh last weekend. Oklahoma, which won the NCAA team title, and the school it dethroned, Oklahoma A. & M., head the list.

The United States Army will enter two full teams, one in free style and the other in Greco-Roman competition.

Begin Wednesday

Free style entrants will compete Wednesday through Friday and Greco-Roman wrestlers on Saturday.

The 5,000 inhabitants of this Southwestern Pennsylvania town, founded in Colonial days, have witnessed many district and Pennsylvania high school wrestling tournaments. Wrestling draws better than basketball, baseball and football. For years leagues have operated for small fry and adult grapplers.

Municipal officials have joined with officials of Waynesburg College, where the AAU matches will be held, in providing housing accommodations for the visitors.

Williams Denounces Politicians in Another Outburst

By UNITED PRESS

SARASOTA, Fla. (UP) — Ted Williams stuck today to the guns he fired at the late Sen. Robert A. Taft and the Marine Corps and apparently included President Eisenhower in a sweeping denunciation of all politicians.

At the same time, the "third man" present during the Boston Red Sox slugger's latest popoff said Williams had been partly misquoted by Executive Sports Editor Crozet Duplantier of the New Orleans States. Duplantier wrote Monday that Williams attempted to "pull strings" to avoid being recalled by the Marines during the Korean conflict and spat on the floor at the mention of former President Harry Truman's name.

Referring To 'Friend'

Hy Hurwitz of the Boston Globe, who arranged the interview with Duplantier, said Williams actually was talking about a friend who attempted to obtain a deferment from Sen. Taft and explained that Tempestuous Ted was "just doing a lot of spitting"—and wasn't necessarily spitting at the mention of any individual's name.

President Eisenhower's name was brought into the story when Hurwitz gave his version of Williams' comments on "gutless politicians."

"We've got a lot of gutless politicians in this country," Williams said. "I didn't want to meet the President nor did I want to meet Harry Truman. I don't like gutless politicians. The whole system we have is phony. That goes for all the United States of America."

Hurwitz told the United Press that he interpreted that to mean Williams had turned down invitations to meet both President Eisenhower and Truman "because of his dislike for anybody connected with politics."

Once Admired Taft

Williams confirmed his statements that he "lost respect" for Sen. Taft and also that he "resented being recalled into the Marines" in 1952. Williams, who had previously served three years with the U.S. Navy Air Force during World War II, flew combat missions in Korea at the age of 34.

"I used to admire Sen. Taft," Williams said. "I thought he was a wonderful man. But a friend of mine was called back for Korea like I was. He knew Sen. Taft. He went to him and asked if he could help him get a deferment.

"Do you know what Sen. Taft told him?" Williams said. "He said, 'I can't touch you. If you were just an ordinary person I could help you but because you are pretty well known I can't do a thing for you.'"

About the Marine Corps, Williams said: "Sure, I resent being called back at the peak of my earning power" and added he thought other prominent persons were "picked on" because they were public figures.

Li'l Leaguer

Frenchman Beats Italian Batam Boxing Champ

PARIS (UP) —The triumph of unbeaten Alphonse Halimi over Italian deaf-mute Mario d'Agata gladdened the hearts of 50 million Frenchmen today, but if anything, it only made the world bantamweight title picture more confused.

Halimi, 25-year-old Algerian who turned professional less than two years ago, seized d'Agata's share of the bantam crown Monday night by gaining a clear-cut 15-round decision at the Palais des Sports in France's first world title bout in 30 years.

But indications that d'Agata may protest the decision because of a fire that interrupted the fight added an element of uncertainty.

In addition, Halimi's claim to the crown will not be recognized by the U.S. National Boxing Assn. That group did not recognize d'Agata bantam king, but conferred the title instead on Mexico's Raul (Raton) Macias, and prospects now seem dim for getting the two claimants into the same ring.

Delay Bout

Monday night's bout was delayed for 14 minutes between the third and fourth rounds by a fire in the electric system over the ring.

Edouart Rabret, secretary of the World Boxing Committee, had announced before the bout that he had assurances the winner would meet Macias in a title - clearing bout before July 1. But from San Francisco came word that Macias has signed to defend his share of the crown on May 11 in that city against Dommy Ursua of the Philippines.

There were no knockdowns Monday night as d'Agata, 31, maintained his record of never having been floored in 50 professional fights. However, Halimi won all rounds except four and those were declared even, as his counter-punching offset d'Agata's pressing, crowding attack.

German Boxer Has No Trouble With Bob Baker

NEW YORK (UP) —Willi Besmanoff, regarded in some quarters as another Max Schmeling, isn't anywhere as good as the once mighty "Black Uhlan," but he's eager and confident and may yet wind up as a leading heavyweight contender.

Young Willi took Big Bob Baker's best punches in their televised 10-round bout at the St. Nicholas Arena Monday night and then walked off with a unanimous decision over the Pittsburgh heavyweight.

"He's the biggest and the best I ever fought," Willi explained in his dressing room, "but I'm sorry I didn't slug it out more often. I think I could have knocked him out."

Besmanoff, on orders from Manager Jersey Jones, didn't trade punches with the hulking Baker on many occasions, but when he did Baker came out second best everytime.

Baker, the ninth ranking heavyweight contender, was slow getting started and when he finally decided to make a fight of it, the 24-year-old Besmanoff resorted to a running game and the strategy paid off.

All three ring officials—Referee Al Berl and Judges Bert Grant and Nat Cooper—scored it, 5-4-1, in favor of Besmanoff, who was a 12 to 5 underdog. It was Willi's 13th straight win and his 35th in 48 professional bouts.

Dupas Case in Court Today; Claims He's White

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Backers of boxer Ralph Dupas will go to state court today in an attempt to stop hearings by the Louisiana Boxing Commission on charges the lightweight is Negro and therefore ineligible to box whites in Louisiana.

Fight Promoter Heard Ragas said he will ask the court of Judge Rene Viosca to issue an injunction stopping the commission from further considering charges against Dupas.

The commission scheduled hearings for tonight on charges brought by a section of the state Health Department that Dupas is a Negro.

The sixth ranked, 21-year - old fighter was invited by the commission to testify and give evidence bearing on his racial background. Dupas is not a formal party to the court action and said he did not expect to be in court.

Viosca is the judge who in 1949 handed down a ruling which permitted the 'Battling Docusen Brothers" of Louisiana—Bernard, Maxie and Regina, to box as whites. Viosca upheld their contention they were white against charges they were Negroes.

In Louisiana, criminal law forbids Negroes to compete against whites in athletic contests.

Erskine, Spooner To Take Exams

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Sore-armed pitchers Carl Erskine and Karl Spooner were scheduled to leave the Brooklyn Dodgers' training base here today for a plane flight back to Brooklyn for medical examinations.

Team officials said the two players might check in later in the day at Long Island College Hospital where Dr. Herbert Fett is expected to examine them.

Erskine, Brooklyn's two - time no-hit hero, announced Monday that chronic pain in his right shoulder has "become more acute" and that he believes he needs "medical help" if he ever is going to pitch effectively again. Spooner, young lefty who struck out 27 batters in his first two games as a Dodger in 1954, but sat out almost all last season with a sore arm, has shown none of his old speed in training.

Panther Back Sent to Hospital

PITTSBURGH (UP)—University of Pittsburgh halfback Jim Theodore has been hospitalized with a "severe contusion" of a thigh muscle, a school spokesman disclosed Monday.

The spokesman said the first string back was injured when tackled in a scrimmage last Saturday. At first the injury was believed not serious.

Theodore will remain at West Penn Hospital for several days and probably will not take further part in spring football practice, which ends April 13.

Pirates, Athletics Battle to Scoreless Tie in 18 Innings

By UNITED PRESS

Of course, it could be the major leagues' idea of a huge April Fool's Day joke, but were those really the Pittsburgh Pirates and Kansas City A's who had all that wonderful pitching?

The calendar said April 1, sure enough, but it could have been Oct. 1 with the likes of Don Larsen and Sal Maglie pitching against each other in the World Series as the seventh - place Pirates and eighth-place A's battled to a brilliant 0-0 tie in 18 innings at West Palm Beach, Fla.

And this great pitching was backed up by real World Series-type fielding by Bob Clemente of the Pirates and Milt Graff of the A's.

KC Heroes

The KC heroes were veteran righty Ned Garver, who allowed only three hits for the first six innings; ex-Yankee Mickey McDermott, who did even better by permitting just two singles in seven frames; and rookie Carl Duser, who yielded a stingy two hits in the last four.

Pirate laurels went to Ronnie Kline, last year's top losing pitcher in the National League (18 losses) who permitted four singles in eight innings; Bob Purkey, who yielded five hits in eight innings; and Vern Law, who allowed two hits in two frames.

A's Threaten

The A's threatened in the 18th but Cletus Boyer, attempting to go from first to third with none out on Vic Power's single to right, was thrown out by Clemente. The Pirates' only scoring chance went down the drain in the seventh when Graff's great play robbed Dick Groat of a key base hit.

So there it was—the most brilliantly pitched game so far this spring. Could be these two underdogs have enough hurling this year to cause even more surprises.

The Pirates and A's had the spring training stage to themselves Monday as all other games involving big league clubs were rained out.

Dodgers to Drill With Cincinnati

TAMPA, Fla. (UP) —Would any Cincinnati Redleg fans like to see Don Newcombe and Sal Maglie pitching with the Redlegs and Junior Gilliam playing in the infield?

If you can catch a fast plane down here, that's what you would see today. By special arrangement between Dodger Manager Walt Alston and Redleg Pilot Birdie Tebbetts, the three Brooklyn players are scheduled to work out today with the Redlegs—just for one day, of course.

Alston explained that the Dodgers are going today to Ft. Myers, Fla., for a game with the Pirates and then will fly to Jacksonville for Wednesday's game. Newcombe, Maglie, and Gilliam refused to take the plane, so "in order that they won't miss a day's workout," they'll drill today with the Redlegs and then take a train tonight for Jacksonville.

Hartack Rides Three Winners

HALLANDALE, Fla. (UP)—Defending national riding champion Willie Hartack hustled home three winners at Gulfstream Park Monday. Hartack scored on Revolark ($6.10), Blue Choir ($6.00) and Boston Doge ($6.00) in the featured Roamer Purse.

Rosen Plans to Stay 'Retired'

CLEVELAND (UP) —Al Rosen's "definite" decision to retire from baseball today left the Cleveland Indians with the big problem of finding a good third baseman to succeed the American League's most valuable player in 1953.

Tribe Manager Kerby Farrell has tried out a half dozen players to plug the hole, including second baseman Bobby Avila, outfielders Al Smith and Dave Pope, and rookie Billy Harrell. Smith is the likely, though unwilling, choice to have the job on opening day.

Rosen talked by telephone with Farrell in Tucson, Ariz., and General Manager Hank Greenberg in Daytona Beach, Fla., Monday before giving a "no" answer to a request by Greenberg 24 hours earlier that he end his retirement. For several hours before that, Rosen strongly leaned toward rejoining the team even if it meant quitting his fulltime job at the Cleveland office of Bache & Co., investment brokers.

"My future in Cleveland is predicated on my family, my job and my happiness," Rosen said after announcing his "final" decision.

McCurdy Elected President of Mon Valley Umpires

Harry McCurdy, of Monongahela, who is assistant football coach at Monessen High, has been elected president of the Mon Valley Umpires Association.

Other officers for 1957 include James Frazier, Charleroi R. D. 1, vice-president; George Kuvinka, California, secretary - treasurer; and Robert Potts, Fayette City, booking agent.

At a recent meeting, Johnny Bunardzya, Charleroi sports editor, was selected as honorary president. Bunardzya was one of the founders of the Association.

New members admitted to the group are Don Rhodes of West Brownsville, and Lloyd Francescni, of Charleroi.

The next meeting of the Association will be held on Friday in the Monessen Ravens Club beginning at 7 30 p. m. Final plans for the upcoming scholastic baseball season will be discussed at that time.

Sporstmen's Corner—

Training Lack Leads To Shooting Mishaps

Encouragingly, accidents caused by hunter gunfire in Pennsylvania during the entire year 1956 was 476. The total was fewer by 71, or 13%, than in 1955.

However, it is never excusable for a person to shoot himself or another because of carelessness, lack of emotional control, greed for game or a desire to prove himself a mighty nimrod. Hunting accident investigations by Game Protectors reveal lack of firearms training and field experience often prove to be the basic causes of human shootings.

This is true more especially in the case of youngsters under 16 years of age who go hunting unattended by an adult, though the law requires that a mature person be along.

Hunter casualty reports also show that adults as well as youths will add materially to their own protection and that of others if they will but use common sense, learn the cardinal points of gun safety and put a brake on any sudden urge to shoot until certain of their wildlife target. It must be recognized that the difference between a person being accidentally injured, killed or missed completely is simply a slight change in the direction the hunter's firearm is pointed at the time it is discharged.

Look at Statistics

Proof of this statement is found in the Pennsylvania huner accident tabulation for 1956, which shows: 11 persons met death and 63 were injured when guns in the hands of hunters discharged accidentally; 9 others died and 194 were wounded because hunters did not see the victims were in the line of fire; 4 persons were shot fatally and 27 non-fatally because hunters slipped and fell with the gun safety off; and 4 humans came to their end and 9 were wounded when shot in mistake for game.

Such unfortunate accidents marred the enjoyable sport of hunting for a very small percentage of the nearly million persons who benefited from trips to the field in Pennsylvania last year. All sportsmen should strive to observe the rules of gun safety while afield in 1957. By so doing the comparatively safe, wholesome sport of hunting will maintain its recreational aspects, and the regrettable and unnecessary injuries will diminish in number.

More Trout Streams—

A new total of 4,455 miles of streams in Pennsylvania approved to receive state reared trout has been announced by William Voigt, Jr., Executive Director of the Fish Commission. The total represents an increase of 337 miles since February 11. Also, on the approved trout stocking list of the Commission, but unchanged in recent weeks, are 51 lakes, comprising a total of 8,434 acres.

Voigt disclosed the increase to be the difference between new additions to the list and streams removed from the list upon the recommendations of the Commission's fishery managers.

"For the most part," Voigt said, "the additions are the results of streams studies made at the request of sportsmen. These requested studies were worked into the agenda of each of our fishery managers whose time, in part, is devoted to a systematic inventory of the state's waters."

Welcome Requests

The director indicated that such requests are welcomed by the commission, and that they will continue to receive the attention of the fishery managers as promptly as they can be worked into scheduled agendas.

Voigt further stated that the total mileage of approved trout streams will change constantly as the managers proceed with their studies in their respective regions. He said, "When and where streams presently on the approved list of trout waters prove after study to be unsuited for trout, such streams will be rtmoved from that classification. At the same time, waters not presently being stocked with trout will be added to the stocking list if studies reveal adequate year-round flows of unpolluted water at sufficiently low temperatures and adequate supplies of natural food.

Sell Deer Hides—

Deer hides totaling 2,681 were collected by Game Commission personnel last fall and winter and sold to the highest bidder. The Game Fund was enriched $4,714.77 by this transaction.

The hides were from deer killed illegally, accidentally and for crop damage in late 1956 and early 1957 and turned over to Game Protectors.

HE: Not a bit. I've got regular Rocket performance right through the economy range. And believe me, that's plenty. But if you need more power...

HE: Go to Stage Two. You just saw what that does. Give it three-quarters throttle and you've got three dual carburetors dishing up more power and torque.

Two Loopholes Plugged In South's Race Laws

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court has plugged a legal loophole used in southern states to circumvent racial integration in government - operated cafeterias and other facilities.

The court acted Monday in cases appealed from St. Petersburg, Ia., and Houston, Tex.

In St. Petersburg, the dispute centered around use by Negroes of a city swimming pool. In Houston the controversy was over their admission to a cafeteria in the new county court house.

In both instances local authorities tried to draw a distinction between a city's action as a government and its role as the operator of a business.

In the St. Petersburg case, the Florida city contended its pool is operated as a proprietary activity of business rather than as an agency of government.

The high court rejected St. Petersburg's appeal from a decision by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of appeals that a state can in no way remove any of its activities from the scope of the 14th Amendment.

Houston authorities went one step further and leased their county court house cafeteria to a private individual. The county argued it had turned over to the business firm only a quasi-private function, not a primary governmental operation.

The same 5th Circuit Appeals Court, upholding Negroes' rights to use the cafeteria, said the conduct of the cafeteria operator "is as much state action as would be the conduct of the county itself."

The Supreme Court permitted this decision to stand unchallenged.

Penn State Head Protests Budget; Sees 'Disaster'

PITTSBUGH (UP)—The appropriation proposed for Pennsylvania State University for the next two years is "a disaster budget," Dr. Eric A. Walker, university president, said Monday night.

The budget "would permit us barely to maintain our present programs," he told a meeting of local alumni.

Gov. George M. Leader has proposed a 1957-59 budget containing a flat 10 per cent increase over the 1955-57 appropriation.

Walker said the university has gone directly to the Legislature with what it felt was the "tacit approval" of the governor.

Penn State had asked for a budget increase of 23 per cent, or $5,750,000.

Walker said the increase was needed for salary increases, additions to the faculty, preparations for ever-increasing enrollment and other increased costs.

Teamsters Reject Beck Idea

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Teamsters Union Executive Board has overwhelmingly turned down Teamster President Dave Beck's proposed million-dollar "truth" campaign, the Washington Post and Times Herald said today.

The newspaper said only Beck and his executive assistant vice president, Einar Mohn, voted for the plan at a secret all-day and evening meeting Monday at the union's multi - million dollar national headquarters here.

A reliable source reported that the revolt against Beck was led by Teamster Secretary-Treasurer John F. English, the newspaper said.

Beck announced the publicity campaign last week in Seattle to tell the public and the nation's 1,500,000 Teamsters the "truth" about Senate charges that he took $322,000 in union cash for his personal use. He said the Executive Board approved the money for the campaign in a "telephone poll."

English immediately challenged him. He said he knew of no approval for the publicity campaign and would oppose the plan as long as he held office.

Beck slipped into town during the weekend after a quick trip to his home at Seattle, Wash., and closeted himself for hours with the Executive Board.

His secretary, Mrs. Ann Kotin, said Beck told her after the meeting there "will be no statement at this time." She said he planned to be back at his office today.

He played hide-and-seek with newsmen when he left the headquarters building.

Swatter to Return

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UP)—Future generations may have no means to get rid of flies other than swatting them. Dr. Ralph E. Heal, executive secretary of the National Pest Control Assn., says insects are developing immunities to certain insecticides and it is only a question of time before they'll be immune to all of them.

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader is expected to reappoint P. Stephen Stahlnecker, Philadelphia, to the Public Utility Commission within the next few days.

New Jimmy Dean to Debut on Television

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — CBS-TV uncrates a new Jimmy Dean next month.

This one is Jimmy Dean, country singer, accordionist, guitarist and player of piano. Jimmy ("that's my name, not James") will take over morning show on April 8 when Will Rogers, Jr., bows out.

William Ewald

Dean, an entertainer on the country music circuit for nine years, will face some stiff competition from NBC-TV in his time spot—Dave Garroway, NBC-TV early bird, has been bowling over a steady succession of CBS-TV entries in the a. m. slot.

"We're going to give 'em something totally different from the Garroway show," explained Dean today. "We're going to give 'em country music, which is smilin' music.

Provide Coffee Music

"It's going to be music to shave by. You know, Lawrence Welk has done pretty well with his champagne music, so we figure we should do pretty good with coffee music."

Dean, 29, a native of Plainview, Tex., currently pilots a half-hour Monday - through - Friday TV show in Washington plus a three hour live TV show on Saturday nights from Capitol Arena in that city. As a recording artist in the country field, he has hit with such platters as 'Bummin' Around' and "Freight Train Blues."

He was haunted briefly by the ghost of the late James Dean when that actor died in an auto crash, but that's all over now.

"When Dean was killed, I got a flood of letters from my Washington fans," said the country artist. "They all thought it was me.

"You know, up until three years ago I had never even heard of James Dean. Occasionally, some columnist will criticize me for using his name, but it's my own and I've been using it in the business for a long, long time.

Blasted By Columnist

"Just the other day some New York columnist blasted me. What's his name — Hiram Gardner? But we got it all straightened out."

Dean is convinced that country music, like the country, is here to stay. "It's not only here to stay," he said, "It's going to get bigger and bigger. The reason is the people who play it enjoy what they're doing — they're moving, they're tapping their feet, they're smilin'. And they make you feel the same way."

Dean has no qualms about his early morning TV assignment. He even looks forward to rising at four in the morning.

Polio 'Shot' Fees Go to Library

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (UP) —The medical staff of Citizens' General Hospital announced today that $15,000 received in fees during two mass polio inoculation days will be turned over to a fund for a new public library building.

Present library facilities are housed in rented quarters. The action by the doctors spurred the New Kensington Woman's Club into action. The organization plans to donate $10,000 to the library fund.

The Junior Woman's Club of New Kensington also will meet soon to discuss the possibility of donating $10,000.

Polio shots were administered free to those unable to pay the $3 fee.

Massachusetts grows 60 per cent of the cranberry crop of the United States.

Your Health—

Is it Wise to Have 'Appointment' Baby?

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

It's entirely possible, in many instances now, to "have a baby by appointment."

Parents actually have arranged to have their babies born on a specific date such as a wedding anniversary, or at a time when it is convenient for their vacation plans.

Some have gone so far as to insist that their baby be born in time to claim him as an income tax deduction.

As I said, all this is possible. But is it advisable? Except for certain special cases, it is not.

Recently, a panel of distinguished doctors charged in a national magazine that some of the nation's obstetricians are endangering the lives of their patients by allowing them, without proper indication, to follow this fad of having babies by appointment.

By appointment I mean by induced labor, the obstetrical practice doctors call elective induction of labor. This is a procedure by which obstetricians are able to induce premature labor in pregnant women.

The panel of experts reported in the magazine that, "In some hospitals one out of every three private patients now has her baby by appointment." That seems to be far too many. Of course, some few patients might be suitable for elective induction.

As a guide for doctors and expectant mothers alike, the board listed the following criteria as essential before elective induction can be used safely:

The patient must be pregnant with her second or third child, not her first or fourth.

She must be within the normal child-bearing range. Women over 35 may have lost muscular suppleness and be more prone to rupture.

The patient must not be having twins or triplets.

The unborn baby must be lying in a normal position.

A doctor with considerable obstetric experience must be willing to remain constantly at the patient's side during elective induction.

Iran Will Pay Kin of Victims

WASHINGTON (UP) —Iran has informally suggested it would be willing to pay an indemnity for the deaths of three Americans slain by an Iranian bandit gang, informed sources said today.

So far there has been no official offer to pay families of the trio. But Iran has indicated one will be forthcoming.

American officials in Iran who received the informal offer have passed the matter on to superiors here and asked for advice on how to handle the delicate question.

The United States undoubtedly would accept such an offer, even though it does not hold the Iranian government in any way responsible for the killings. The money would go to the families of the slain Americans.

The trio killed by bandits in the remote Baluchistan area of southeast Iran were Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., and Brewster Wilson of Portland, Ore. Carroll and Wilson were members of the U.S. foreign aid mission to Iran.

Authorities here believe the bandits killed the three Americans because they were mistaken for members of the Iranian state police.

Authorities of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA) denied there has been any formal halt to U.S. aid activities in southeast Iran as a result of the killings. They said that Clark S. Gregory, head of the U.S. aid mission in Iran, has ordered employes in the Kerman Province where the killings occurred not to leave the capital city for the time being.

Population Problems—

New Methods of Birth Control Sought by Catholic Agency

(Third in a series)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP)—The rapid increase in the earth's population in the past decade, particularly in underdeveloped nations which can least afford it, has set off a worldwide search for new methods of birth control.

Prominent among the sponsors of this search is the International Catholic Institute for Social Research at Geneva, Switzerland. It is currently offering an award of $5,000 for the best scholarly paper on a means of population control which would "comply with the requirements of Catholic principles and at the same time . . . be effective from a positive scientific point of view."

As this contest demonstrates, the Roman Catholic Church is not opposed to birth control as such. Pope Pius said in 1951 that "regulation of births . . . is compatible with the law of God" provided:

1. There are sound economic or medical reasons why a couple should be relieved of the "positive obligation" to bear children: and

2. The prevention of pregnancy is accomplished by "natural" rather than "artificial" means.

Sanctions "Natural" Control

The only birth control system which the Catholic Church now sanctions as "natural" is the rhythm method. This requires abstinence from sexual relations except during the so-called "safe period" of a woman's menstrual cycle when pregnancy is least likely to occur.

Catholics are forbidden, on pain of mortal sin, to use contraceptives. The church takes the position that any birth control technique which depends on the interception or destruction of sperm cells is contrary to natural law, and therefore immoral.

Protestant churches which have taken an explicit stand on brith control—notably the Methodists and Episcopalians—stress motive rather than method as the test of morality. They approve of "planned parenthood" if the regulation of births is undertaken for "unselfish" motives—to protect the mother's health or the welfare of children already born to the family.

The birth control problem is seen in a different light in many countries of Asia and Africa, where population increase is most explosive.

Safe, Simple, Cheap

Here the search is for a safe, simple, cheap technique of birth control that can be introduced on a wide scale in millions of families which can neither afford nor understand Western methods.

Many scientists believe the answer is the development of some kind of pill that can produce temporary sterility. No such pill has yet been perfected, although much research is being done and some promising leads have been discovered.

The most recent lead, reported in the January-February issue of the American Medical Association Journal, is a new compound called amphenone which appears to cause a "definite suppression of ovulation." Experimental work on this compound is being carried out at the Rock Reproductive Study Center, Brookline, Mass.
